Mexico City, November 30.—(AP)—Emilio Portes Gil is provisional president of Mexico, to serve one year until a regular president is elected. He took over the reins of government today and pledged his administration to a continuance of the policies of President Plutarco Elias Calles, whom he succeeded. He made special mention of his hope of continuing a mutual understanding with the United States.

The ceremony of administering the oath of office took less than half an hour. The grandstands in the national stadium were filled with more than 20,000 persons, including 2,000 persons wearing picturesque white suits and broad sombreros. About 5,000 guests occupied a platform in the center of the stadium, including members of the diplomatic corps in full regalia and all of the principal military chiefs in dress uniform. It was unusual in the history of Mexico, for these latter to see any but one of their own number assume the presidency.

Picked troops lined the streets from the presidential palace to the stadium. Military academy cadets were lined up just outside of the stadium, more troops formed a file about the platform and still others were stationed on the roofs of the grandstands.

Portes Gil and President Calles arrived with the escort of the presidential guard. The salute of 21 guns sounded as he entered the arena.

As soon as he had taken the oath, Portes Gil read a brief message outlining his policies and this concluded the ceremony. The new president and the retiring one, with members of the diplomatic corps and others, returned to the presidential palace where Calles formally handed over the office to his successor. A reception followed.

Regarding foreign relations, Portes Gil mentioned especially those with the United States. He said that as long as the American government continued to show a desire to respect Mexican sovereignty the American people would have no cause to complain about their southern neighbor. But he warned that sovereignty "is a point on which Mexico cannot concede or make concessions despite the magnitude of sacrifices that might become necessary."

Saying that special mention was made of the United States because it is a neighbor and also due to the economic relations existing between the two countries, he added: "Fortunately the wisdom and patriotism with which President Calles and Ambassador Morfitt have served their respective countries have created distrust and created a mutual understanding which, with all my heart, I desire may continue."

Portes Gil pledged his government to combat war, "even thoughts of war." He said he would make sure that history would be taught in the schools of Mexico from a peaceful view. In this connection he remarked: "It would not be thinkable."

Los Angeles, November 30.—(AP)—Arraigned on one charge of murder and awaiting arraignment on three more, Gordon Stewart Northcott, 21-year-old Riverside chicken rancher, denied from his jail cell here this afternoon that he had confessed, as officers announced, that he had killed an unidentified Mexican boy after abusing him.

Northcott was brought here today by Los Angeles and Riverside county officers from Vancouver, B. C., after a long delay due to extradition tape. Earle Redwine, deputy district attorney, of Riverside county, told newspaper men this morning that Northcott had "partly confessed" to him on the trip. Confronted by newspapermen Northcott emphatically denied this.

In four indictments Northcott is accused of murdering as many boys. Three of the indictments were returned in Riverside county and one in Los Angeles county. The Los Angeles indictment charges the rancher with the murder of a Mexican boy in this city. It was on this indictment that Northcott was suddenly and unexpectedly arraigned today and his trial date set for December 5.

Mother To Return.

After trial on the Los Angeles indictment, it is planned to take the youth to Riverside for trial there. Meanwhile his mother, Mrs. Sara Louise Northcott, also under indictment on murder charges, was expected to give up her fight against extradition and return here for trial. She is in Calgary, Alta.

Northcott underwent a long cross-examination en route from Canada. Officers declared they tried to "sweat the truth" out of him and asserted that he was similar to that used by Los Angeles officers who brought William Edward Hickman back after his capture in Oregon. Hickman, a Pease hanged recently for killing a 12-year-old Los Angeles girl. A similar method was used on Clara Phillips, hammer murderer when she was brought back from Honduras. She broke down and confessed the murder of Albert Meadows. She same line of attack was used on Mrs. Louise L. Pease to obtain her confession in a lonely mountain cabin, of the murder of Jacob Benton. Clara Phillips and Mrs. Pease are now in San Quentin prison.

Disclosures in the Northcott case came from Sanford Clark, 15-year-old nephew of Northcott, who told police he witnessed murders and abuses on the chicken ranch, and under duress, participated in one.

Bones Not Evidence.

Clark is expected to testify at the trial, as is Jessie Clark, his sister, who spent some time on the farm.

"You can't plant a couple of bones and accuse a man of murder," Northcott said in his talk to newspaper men upon his arrival here. "I was brought in this time reporters had been permitted to talk to the prisoner and Northcott described the conversation as his 'last interview with the press.'"

Northcott appeared entirely at his ease and talked without hesitancy.

"I am satisfied the case will never come to trial," he said. "I certainly do not intend to plead guilty to anything, and I believe a few statements I make will clear it all up in time."

"Then you did not kill the Mexican boy and haul his body to Duente?" he was asked.

"No," he replied. "I'm not a hearse driver."

Northcott stressed his religion as a help to him in his trouble.

"In this day and age a person cannot be too religious—too close to Christ," he said.

New York, November 30.—(United News.)—A promised showdown between the state of New York and the Broadway half world in the matter of Arnold Rothstein's murder was deferred today for five days.

George McManus, said by authorities to have been in room 349, Park Central hotel, when the millionaire gambler was shot November 6, appeared in court to answer to a short affidavit charging him with first degree murder.

A district attorney had promised that the grand jury would have returned indictments against McManus and to other persons believed to have been "in" on Rothstein's shooting.

It developed that progress had been slow, than was expected—it has been the case open—and the district attorney asked an adjournment until next Wednesday. McManus, through his lawyer, consented, and Judge Mancuso ordered the postponement.

McManus was led across the famous Bridge of Sighs from the court building to his cell in the Tombs prison. District Attorney Barker and his assistants began a series of conferences that lasted until late today.

"An unknown man was hustled out of his office and into an automobile."

"Who was he?" Banton was asked. "New witness?" his name has been mentioned before. Banton answered: "The air of bright optimism that has characterized him when he is not sure whether he has drawn a prize or not, is missing. He is angling."

It appeared tonight that the situation in brief was:

1. The police can get no further until someone "in the know" tells.

Detroit, Mich., November 30.—(United News.)—Nine United States customs border patrol inspectors were arrested today by special agents, following eight months' investigation of what federal officers termed a huge rum-smuggling plot.

Fifty inspectors are involved in the alleged plot, officials said. Those arrested today were charged with conspiracy to assist in the smuggling of liquor into the United States and accepting bribes.

United States District Inspector John R. Watkins, who presented the evidence involving the inspectors to the federal grand jury, said he intended to "send to Leavenworth penitentiary every crooked inspector along this border."

Watkins estimated that about fifty inspectors in the Detroit area were under suspicion and faced suspension or removal.

In connection with Watkins' drive, seven coast guardsmen were ordered Thursday to report to their Buffalo headquarters to face charges of keeping part of liquor cargoes they had seized.

Special Men Get Evidence.

The customs inspectors in the Detroit area have no connection with the federal prohibition unit. Their duty is to watch for liquor on the American side of the border. Carey D. Ferguson, collector of customs, is in charge of the patrol unit.

Assistant Collector Walter S. Petty and Sumner C. Steeper, chief of the customs border patrol, started a reorganization of the unit about a year ago. They said evidence of "widespread corruption" had been found. Ten special agents were employed to watch the inspectors.

"We discharged about 175 agents during that time," Steeper said, "because it often was almost impossible to get direct evidence. The corruption continued, nevertheless."

Fifty hundred dollars in marked money, which one of the special agents collected in bribes in a month, has been turned over as evidence.

Washington, November 30.—(United News.)—The prohibition enforcement bureau's efforts along the Canadian border moved in three different channels today.

First, Assistant Secretary of Treasury Lowman revealed that a secret investigation of the border customs service, resulting in the arrest of nine inspectors at Detroit today, had been ordered some months ago.

Second, Ernest H. Cherrington, Anti-Saloon league official, suggested

Despondency Over Ill Health Is Believed To Have Caused Action of Prominent Hotel Man

Louis J. Dinkler, 67, chairman of the board of the Dinkler Hotels company and widely known and loved, ended his life with a pistol bullet at 10 o'clock Friday night in the sub-basement of the Piedmont hotel. Despondency over ill health for the past two years is believed to have caused the act.

Only a few months ago Mr. Dinkler spent several weeks in Europe in the hope of regaining his health and recently is known to have consulted more than one leading physician. His health, however, while preventing the full participation in the operation of the string of Dinkler hotels throughout the middle west and southeast, nevertheless was not of such a nature as to confine him to his bed.

Since early manhood, when he moved to Georgia from Nashville, Tenn., his boyhood home, Mr. Dinkler had led an extremely active life and with his son, Carling L. Dinkler, president of the company, controlled ten of the leading hotels of the entire south. His interest in his company had not diminished with his failing health, however, and much of his time was spent in his office in the Piedmont hotel, one of the chain which he controlled.

Son Arrives Today.

Carling Dinkler, his son, left Nashville for Atlanta by train Friday night.

New Weather Service Opens For Aviators

Reporting Station at McRae To Work Under Atlanta Office.

With opening of the new air mail service between Atlanta and Miami, the United States weather bureau, through its Atlanta, Jacksonville and Miami offices this morning inaugurates an additional weather reporting service for aviators using this route.

Local reports on visibility, height of "ceiling" and wind direction and velocity and other weather factors essential to the safe operation of planes along the route will be furnished from different points to the three weather bureaus and, in turn, exchanged by them. Thus aviators will have a complete report on weather conditions available at any time for the entire route.

Working under the Atlanta office will be local reporting station at McRae, according to A. H. Scott, assistant meteorologist for Atlanta. Waycross will send its local reports to Jacksonville and other points on the Florida part of the route will report to Miami.

This service is similar to that already furnished by the weather bureau for the air mail route from Atlanta to New York, while weather reports on the Atlanta-Chicago route will be furnished from established bureaus, such as Chattanooga and Nashville.

A branch weather bureau, with two men in constant attendance, was opened at Candler field on November 1. Mr. Scott stated. The government has erected a six-room building there which is used by the weather bureau.

House Cleaning At Chicago Ends

Grand Jury Adjourns With 15 Convicted and 100 Others Waiting Trial.

Chicago, November 30.—(AP)—Chicago's special grand jury today made an end to the house cleaning that has lasted half a year.

The adjournment of the sixth and last grand jury found 15 men already convicted and perhaps 100 others awaiting trial under indictment for crimes ranging from stuffing boxes at last April's primary to kidnaping, slugging, and murder. Others—these included two policemen named by the retiring jury today—were accused of perjury before the grand jury and before the trial jury that made fines varying up to $1,500 against the alleged conspirators who disposed the ballots, kidnaped and jailed their political foes.

Next Monday John A. Swanson, elected state's attorney of Cook county on his promise to sever the reputed alliance of crime and politics, will take office and with him will be the staff of prosecutors who have directed the six-month investigation and the resulting trial. That the inquiry will begin anew under his regime was indicated today when Edwin J. Raber, who will be an assistant to Swanson, announced he would seek the indictment, conviction and penitentiary sentences for the bosses of the "bloody twentieth" ward, Morris Eller and his son, Judge Samuel Eller, who have yet to be tried on the election conspiracy charges for which their henchmen were fined.

The November grand jury, too,

Hanging To Auto, Student Is Killed By Another Car

Knoxville, Tenn., November 30.—(AP)—Swinging from an automobile driven by a man alleged to have been escaping from a fraternity house with several suits of clothing, Bernard Garrison, 19, of Gallatin, Tenn., and a junior at University of Tennessee, was dashed against another car with such force that his skull was crushed. No hope is held for his recovery. Earl Davis, truck driver, was later arrested on charges of felonious assault and larceny. He was ordered held pending outcome of Garrison's injuries.

Mariners Defend Crew of Vestris

Head of Navigators and Insurance Company Reads Defense of Carey in Inquiry Record.

New York, November 30.—(AP)—The federal investigation into the loss of the liner Vestris ended today, but before the close a representative of 9,000 sea captains and officers read into the voluminous record of the disaster a stirring defense of the late Captain William Carey and the crew of the vessel.

Federal Attorney Charles Tuttle, who conducted the inquiry before United States Commissioner O'Neill, declared the lessons derived from the tragedy should be brought before congress and the international conference on sailor's life at sea. The statement defending Captain Carey and his crew, said that "so long as the sea is and ships sail thereon, the sea will demand its toll."

The statement was read by William H. Coombs, a master mariner, managing director of the Navigators and General Insurance company and general manager of the Officers' Federation.

"No man will ever know for certain the cause of the foundering of the Vestris with a loss of more than 100 lives," said Coombs. "The captain and officers had perhaps 12 hours, not 12 days in the quiet atmosphere of a court in which to solve the mystery, but 10 hours at sea, in a raging sea and a howling gale. They devoted those hours investigating and combating a list, the origin of which they could not discover."

While today marked the end of the government's examination, it is probable, when the hearing is reopened next Wednesday for receipt by Commissioner O'Neill of the reports of the

SHEPPARD, AX SLAYER, BOYKIN, ARRESTED FILE TO MEET DOOM DEC. 19 MANLEY CASE BRIEF

Sentence of Death Is Passed for Third Time on Homer Fowler's Killer.

In the event that Governor L. G. Hardman does not interfere, R. H. Sheppard, ax slayer of Homer Fowler, will be executed on December 19 in the little white room at the state prison farm, near Milledgeville.

Sheppard heard the passing of the death sentence Friday for the third time, when Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, who presided at both of the doomed man's trials, formally set the date for the execution. The formalities of passing sentence occupied but a few minutes, and Sheppard was led from the courtroom, to start counting the days until he occupies the electric chair at the state farm.

The condemned man exhibited no trace of emotion before Judge Thomas, hearing the words of the jurist with a stoic front. His face, however, displayed minute evidence of his agitation in the razor slashes which occurred during his self-defense just before he left the tower for the courthouse.

Sheppard requested that Deputy Sheriff Jim White be assigned as his guard on the trip to and from the courthouse. Several other deputies went along as an escort.

Convicted for the murder of Fowler, Sheppard obtained a new trial from the state supreme court, and was convicted a second time. The supreme court turned down his plea for a third trial. Fowler was slain with an ax on February 19, 1927.

Appeal Before U.S. Supreme Court To Be Heard Early Next Week.

Washington, November 30.—(AP)—Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, of the Atlanta judicial circuit of Georgia, and Reuben R. Arnold, attorneys for Georgia, contesting the appeal of W. D. Manley, attacking the validity of the state statute under which he was convicted for the failure of the Farmers and Traders Bank of Atlanta, filed in the supreme court today the brief to be used in arguing the case when it is reached early next week. It was set for Monday, but cases ahead of it may delay its consideration a day or two.

The brief is directed to meet the constitutional objections urged by Manley against the statute under which he was convicted. Declaring the supreme court would accept the construction placed on the law by the state courts with regard to its meaning, state counsel asserted that as construed the law which presumes that every insolvency of a state bank resulted from fraudulent or illegal management was not repugnant to the federal constitution because under the state construction those charged with the offense would have ample opportunity in court to set aside this presumption by showing that the failure was due to other causes.

The statute was sufficiently explicit in its terms to give those indicted under it all necessary information to present their defense, there being, it was asserted, no ground for questioning what the word "fraud" meant in connection with the management of a bank.

There is a rational connection between the insolvency of a bank and the presumption that its failure was due to the fraudulent or illegal management of its officers, the brief argued.

"In a large percentage of cases, it is a matter of public knowledge," it added, "that the wrongful acts of the officers in charge have caused the insolvency of banks, and it is only sufficient that the connection between the thing presumed and the facts from which it should be presumed should be reasonable, and not that it should be the fact in every case, or even in a majority of cases."

The presumption is only prima facie, it was asserted, and was opened to be rebutted.

STAY OF 30 DAYS GIVEN L. R. ADAMS AND J. D. RUSSELL

A thirty-day stay having been granted by the United States circuit court in the case of L. R. Adams and John D. Russell, under sentence of five and two years, respectively, in connection with alleged mail frauds in the operation of the defunct Bankers Trust company, attorneys for both men are continuing the fight against the sentences imposed by the court.

The circuit court recently affirmed the conviction of Adams and Russell but Hooper and Hooper, attorneys for Adams, have filed an application in New Orleans for a rehearing of the case in this court and if this fails, they will still have recourse to the United States supreme court.

J. A. Branch, of the firm of Branch and Howard, has stated that he is preparing to apply for a writ of certiorari from the United States supreme court in the case of Russell.

Adams, Russell, Paul J. Baker, the late J. A. Sasser and W. D. Manley were jointly indicted in connection with the failure of the Bankers Trust company which was followed by the failure of more than 80 banks in Georgia and Florida. Baker did not appeal his sentence and Manley is under sentence in state courts of 9 to 10 years for fraudulent insolvency.

Hunting Accidents In Georgia Absent On Thanksgiving

Although hunters were in the field in many parts of Georgia Thanksgiving day, not one accident occurred of a serious nature, according to reports received Friday by Peter S. Twitty, state game and fish commissioner.

"In previous years we have received many reports of accidents the day after Thanksgiving but I am pleased to say that we have not heard one report this year," Mr. Twitty said. "I believe this result is due to the fact that hunters are learning how to observe the rules of sportsmanship and have discharged firearms with caution and judgment."

LAWYERS MAP COURSE
DURING ADAIR RECESSTwo of Defense Counsel Go
Before Supreme Court for Manley Appeal.

Gainesville, Ga., November 30.—(AP) With federal court in recess here until next Thursday morning so far as four former officials of the Adair Realty & Trust Co., of Atlanta, are concerned, both government and defense counsel were granted a respite to look over their respective standings and map out their future courses.

Judge Samuel H. Sibley recessed court yesterday in order that members of the bar might attend the funeral of John W. Henley, first assistant United States district attorney, who died in Atlanta Tuesday. Monday, two leading attorneys for the defense, Marion Smith and Reuben Arnold, will appear before the supreme court in Washington on the appeal of W. D. Manley, former bank official, who is under sentence in connection with the failure of a number of Georgia banks. Minor pleas will be heard by Judge Sibley until Thursday.

The government for the past two weeks has spent much of its time in producing testimony to the effect that hundreds of bondholders of projected hotels in Knoxville, Tenn., Birmingham, Ala., and Little Rock, Ark., lost anything from 88 per cent on up of their total investment when the Adair company was forced into bankruptcy March 31, 1927, after selling most of the bonds for the hotels. Contractors ceased work when they did not receive pay on their estimates.

The government charged that the Atlanta company mingled the money derived from the sale of the bonds with other income and used it to finance other deals, including Whitfield Estates at Sarasota, Fla., which was made the subject of a long inquiry. Witnesses from four corners of the United States appeared to testify concerning their dealings in Adair bonds, though most of those from a distance had been dismissed when court recessed.

5 VESSELS GO TO AID DISABLED FREIGHTER

Three Ships Stand by While
Two Others Speed to Side of Boat in Pacific.

Seattle, Wash., November 30.—(AP) With three rescue vessels standing by and two more en route the disabled Canadian-American ship company freighter Chief Maquila was being towed in the trough of the Pacific about 350 miles from Dutch Harbor.

Forty men, eight white officers and crew of 32 Chinese, were safe aboard the freighter, which was completely out of control, with 13 feet of water on the engine room and a 35-degree list.

The Japanese steamer Montreal Maru was joined by the British freighter Atlantic City and the Japanese S. S. Yogen Maru. Another Japanese vessel, Somedama Maru, was due at the scene later and tonight the British Columbia Salvage company's Salvage Queen left to tow the freighter to port if necessary.

David Girwood, Seattle manager for the Canadian-American Shipping company, was advised it was probable the ship would first be towed to Dutch Harbor for survey there. The Montreal Maru may do the towing.

First S. O. S. calls from the Chief Maquila, which was heavily loaded with lumber, wheat and salt herring for the Orient, were received early yesterday and six vessels steamed toward the stricken ship. A big deck load of lumber had shifted in heavy weather encountered when the ship was about 2,000 miles out of Puget Sound, the lumber going over the side, carrying into the sea with it the starboard lifeboat and sails.

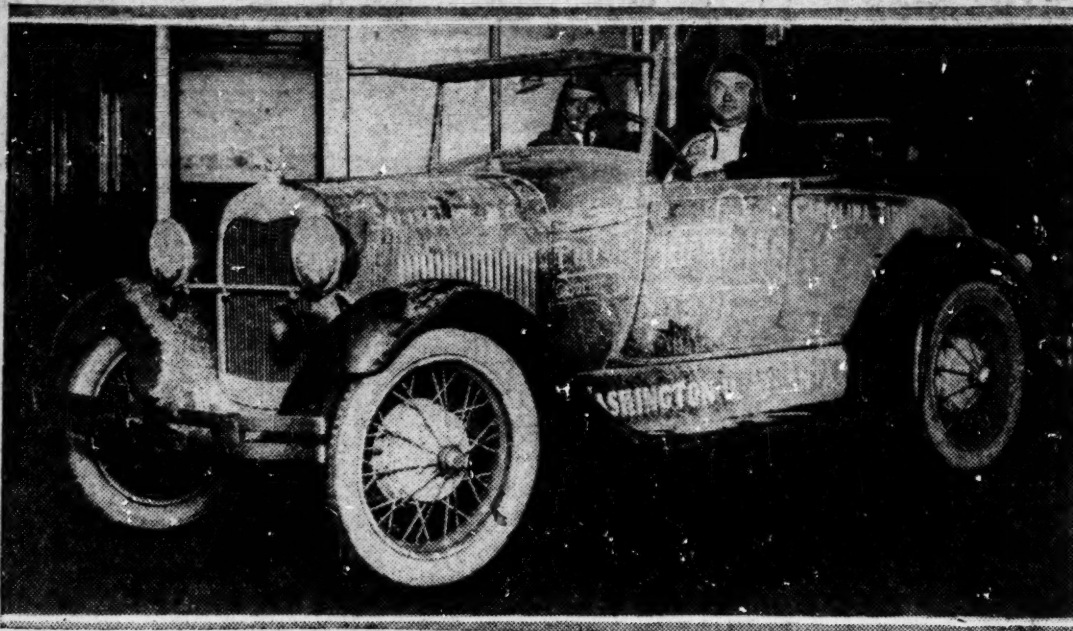

The vessel will be pumped out at Dutch Harbor, the cargo readjusted and it may proceed to its destination unless the boilers and engine parts have been damaged by the sea water.

The Mannilla, 9,500-ton vessel, sailed from Kildonan, B. C., November 17.

Ganna Pleased Hubby.

New York, November 30.—Some of the critics whose holiday task was to review Ganna Walska's first radio concert were informed that Harold P. McCormick, who had been at her home in Chicago and telephoned his congratulations.

Beats 'Crescent Limited'—Washington to Atlanta

Leaving Washington, D. C., at 2:10 a. m. Friday and driving this stock model Ford roadster through all kinds of weather and over all sorts of roads, C. T. Morgan, at the wheel, and M. S. Raintree, arrived in Atlanta Friday afternoon at 5:13 p. m., 27 minutes ahead of the Crescent Limited—crack train between Washington and New Orleans—covering the distance between Washington and Atlanta in 13 hours and 13 minutes, which sets a new time record for any kind of road vehicle. This run was sponsored by the Ford dealers of Washington, who have claimed for many months that the new Ford model "A" was as fast as any train in America. This car will be on display today and Sunday in the display rooms of Ernest G. Beaudry, 169 Marietta street, local Ford dealer, and the public is cordially invited to come by and personally inspect it.

SAVANNAH SAFES NET $575 TO YEGGS IN THREE VENTURES

Savannah, Ga., November 30.—(AP) Yeggsmen had a busy time in Savannah last night, three safes were cracked and about $575 stolen. In each instance combination dials were hammered off safes and the locks then picked.

Robbery of the Bijou theater was the first discovered. Seventy-five dollars was taken.

The office of John J. Bouhan and David S. Atkinson, respectively, city attorney and assistant city attorney, was entered and about $500 taken from the safe. The safe of Salsbury & Hill, insurance agents, was also broken open but nothing was taken.

An effort was made to rob the office of John H. Walsh, naval stores factor, but evidently the strong safe there looked too formidable for the burglars.

LOUISIANA PAIR, SENTENCED TO DIE, MAY GET RESPITE

New Orleans, November 30.—(AP) The States says today it has learned authoritatively that the state board of pardons will recommend life imprisonment for Mrs. Ada Bonner Le Bouef, Dr. Thomas E. Dreher and John Pleasant Harris, under sentence to hang for murder.

Announcement of the board's decision is expected late this afternoon. A hearing for the three convicted murderers was held Wednesday. They are under sentence to hang December 21.

Mrs. Le Bouef and Dr. Dreher killed James J. Le Bouef, husband of the woman, at Morgan City, La., July 1, 1921. His body was found five days later in Lake Foulouie weighed down with angle iron. He had been shot twice. The state contended the woman and physician caused his death in order to carry on a love affair. Harris fatally shot Catherine Wilson, his former sweetheart, in New Orleans five years ago.

James Beadle, of Morgan City, was tried along with Mrs. Le Bouef and Dr. Dreher. He drew a life sentence which he is now serving.

Slain Man's Servant Kills His Assassin At Opening of Trial

Prague, Czechoslovakia, November 30.—(AP) Alchibade Bebe, Albanian student who assassinated Zeno Bey, Albanian minister at Prague and a brother-in-law of King Zogu, of Albania, was shot to death today at the opening of his trial. His assassin was a servant of Zeno Bey's brother.

Before the slayer could be seized, an Italian newspaperman was seriously wounded and the official court interpreter and a spectator suffered less serious injuries.

The court room was thrown into the wildest consternation by the tragedy. The assassin, whose name was not disclosed, fired six shots at his victim, the first of which killed Bebe. Other shots struck the correspondent of Giornale D'Italia, of Rome, and Dr. Jezura, the interpreter. At the discharge of the bullets, which the police later said were dum-dums, the throngs in the court scurried wildly to the doors. In an effort to make possible the assassin's escape, several Albanian kinsmen fired shots into the air adding to the panic. The judge leaped from the bench and two jurymen, seeking to escape, fell headlong on the floor. One dislocated his thighbone and the other was trampled by the terrorized spectators.

Plan New System To Deliver Freight In New York City

Washington, November 30.—(AP) A suggestion that federal legislation may be necessary to establish a sufficient system for delivery of railroad freight on Manhattan island in New York city, was given today to the interstate commerce commission by H. C. Ames, an examiner.

Ames, who has just concluded an investigation into present railroad methods of delivering and receiving Manhattan island freight, declared that a reorganization was held to be necessary by the shipping public and also deemed advisable by many of the railroad organization heads. He found also that the commission had no power under existing law to issue effective orders for the purpose.

RED MEN'S MEETING

General Committee To Gather at Hall Tonight.

The final meeting of the general committee on arrangements for the publicity bureau class adoption of the Improved Order of Red Men will be held at the lodge's hall, 180 Central avenue, S. W., tonight. Walter C. Hendrix, chairman, announced Friday. The degrees will be conferred Monday night.

A parade of 1,000 "palefaces" through the downtown streets will feature the ceremony Monday night. The degree work will be under the direction of the Powhatan Tribe No. 2 and the Appalachee Tribe No. 21.

NEBRASKA AND IOWA ARE SNOWED UNDER

Omaha, Neb., November 30.—(AP) Snow that was a blessing to winter wheat farmers but a wet blanket to Thanksgiving day outdoor programs covered Nebraska and parts of Iowa today.

Sheets of snow at Des Moines, Iowa, were blamed for the death of Mrs. Jonathan Thomas, 75, killed when two automobiles collided.

In western Nebraska snow choked the highways, but nowhere was transportation seriously affected. Absence of winds, which would have drifted the snow across railroads and thoroughfares, kept damage to a negligible figure. Thanksgiving day annuals on the football fields of Nebraska suffered both in attendance and in play, the snow-soaked fields making anything but a dull sloshing exhibition impossible.

Cold came with the snow, although the weather prediction today was for warmer weather.

In Omaha downtown traffic was suspended for some time early last night until tractors had cleared the streets. Telephone and telegraph companies reported little delay and railroads experienced no difficulty in the eastern part of the state.

The entire state was covered, the storm starting in the western sections late Wednesday. Some roads in western Nebraska and Wyoming were almost impassable, reports said. Railroad officials were ready to send snow

LEONARD S. FLO ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR ANOTHER HOP

Havana, November 30.—(AP) Leonard S. Flo, youthful Ann Arbor aviator who landed here Wednesday on a flight from Walkersville, Ont., said today that he would make another attempt at a non-stop flight early in January over the same air lane.

When Flo was forced to land at Key West because of illness within 100 miles of his objective, he intimated that he would attempt a non-stop flight from Havana to Walkersville, but this plan he has definitely abandoned.

The young aviator said he would probably leave Columbia field here Sunday at dawn for Detroit, making the flight in one hop.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN, OXFORD STUDENT, KILLED BY FALL

Oxford, England, November 30.—(AP) Dr. R. D. Cohen, of San Francisco, a university student living at Oxford, was found dead today outside the window of his residence from which it is believed he fell.

Dr. Cohen, who lived at Canterbury house, Columbia field here, was discovered on the pavement early this morning. He was a non-collegiate student in the university in his third year.

plows to those sections should a high wind arise. North Platte reported a fall of 10 inches, while at Holdrege there was a 12-inch fall.

SOUTH CAROLINA DIOCESE BISHOP IS CONSECRATED

Charleston, S. C., November 30.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. Albert S. Thomas today was consecrated as bishop of the South Carolina diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church.

He succeeds the late Bishop William A. Guerry, who was shot and mortally wounded some months ago by a deranged Episcopal clergyman in the diocesan offices here.

The new bishop comes to his duties 226 years after his seventh ancestor, the Rev. Samuel Thomas, a missionary, took charge of a small congregation at St. James church, Goose Creek. The Rev. Samuel Thomas was the first Episcopal missionary to the British province of South Carolina and the St. James congregation was its first congregation.

FLORIDIAN SEIZED AFTER SHOOTING IN ROW OVER BOY

Tallahassee, Fla., November 30.—(AP)—P. B. Roberts, 35, was in the county jail today in connection with the serious wounding yesterday of Mearns Andrews, 21, meat market employee.

Andrews was shot when he went to Roberts' home to get his 12-year-old brother, Virgil, who had been living with Roberts. Officers said Roberts refused to let the elder brother take the boy and an altercation ensued.

Andrews was at a local hospital where physicians performed an operation to remove a bullet from his body.

Three brothers survive—Gardner T. Eustis, Minneapolis, and John E. Eustis and Anthony W. Eustis, of New York city.

LINER HOMERIC, HIT BY STORM, IS DAY LATE

New York, November 30.—(AP)—The gales which swept the north Atlantic and the European coast this week sent the British liner Homeric into port here with 15 feet of her forecastle head railing torn away and caused passengers on the Leviathan to miss Thanksgiving day dinners ashore.

The Homeric, which docked 24 hours behind schedule, also had 14 glass ports on the promenade deck broken. The Leviathan bore no outward signs of the storm, but the 12 hours she lost on her schedule testified to its fury.

Although the Leviathan's passengers missed planned dinners ashore, they had turkey and all the trimmings aboard the vessel. The steward had laid in a stock of the birds before sailing against a possible delay in reaching New York.

J. CURRY HUGHES, INJURED IN CRASH, BELIEVED DYING

J. Curry Hughes, 55, of a Roswell road address, was near death at Grady hospital late Friday night with a skull fracture received early Friday night when the small cart which he was driving on Roswell road, near Buckhead, was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by J. S. Davis, of an unknown address.

County Patrolmen Hughes and Stovall were told that Hughes had been spending the day in Cherokee county buying horses and was on his way home at the time of the crash. It was also stated that Davis drove his machine into the cart when he was blinded by the lights of another automobile as he attempted to pass Hughes.

If There Were No Savers Where Would These Securities Be?

The chances are that if it weren't for a foundation of systematic savers the seven billions in securities now owned in the United States could not possibly be held today by millions of people throughout the country.

Savings is the first step, and wise investment the second, along the road to financial independence.

And the first step is easy if you become a regular depositor in a savings account at The Citizens and Southern National Bank.

Deposit your savings on or before December 6, and interest will be credited as from December 1.

We Never Ask Will It Sell?

But In The Selection of all
Our Furniture, we do ask—

- I—Is The Design in Good Taste?
- II—Is The Construction Worthy?
- III—Is The Price The Best?

These questions sound familiar to you . . . and with reason! They are the questions you ask, selecting furniture. In answering them we seek the advice of stylists, trained to discriminate between what is mediocre and what is of real worth. Each piece of our large display of gift furniture has passed the test described. And furniture, thus selected, WILL sell!

$6,000,000 IS TAKEN TO BANKS IN MACON

All Institutions 100 Per Cent Sound, Says Official as Federal Funds Arrive.

Macon, Ga., November 30.—(AP)—The arrival of an armored truck from the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta and three private trucks, bringing more than $6,000,000 here tonight, appeared to have broken the back of a run that started on four Macon banks today.

With the trucks came Eugene R. Black, governor of the Sixth Federal Reserve bank, who went into conference with local bankers, after which they confirmed earlier reports that the banks would be open for business tomorrow morning as usual, with plenty of cash on hand to pay off all those who want their money.

It was declared by persons in a position to know that there was more currency in the city of Macon tonight than was ever assembled here at any time in the history of the city.

The trucks brought money to the Macon National bank, the Luther Williams Bank and Trust company, the Citizens and Southern National bank and the Macon Savings bank.

Three Banks Beleaguered.

The principal runs of the day, however, were on the Macon National bank, the Luther Williams Bank and Trust company and the Macon Savings bank, the last named Macon's oldest banking institution.

The flurry around the savings department of the Citizens and Southern bank around noon ended during the afternoon after ten tellers had been placed in that department and paid all depositors who demanded their money. During the afternoon many of these people redeposited their money. This bank did not close during the afternoon.

The Macon National bank closed at 2 o'clock, as usual, and reopened at 2:30 o'clock and continued to pay depositors.

The Luther Williams Bank and Trust company closed at 1:30 o'clock, Francis E. Williams making the announcement at that time that while the bank had plenty of money it would not pay to a penny crowd.

Bishop Denounces "Runs."

At the Macon Savings bank customers were paid as rapidly as possible.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, mounted a truck in front of the Macon National and pleaded for the crowd to disperse and raise the banner of "business as usual."

"You have been breaking banks of Macon for 40 years just because foolishness as this," said Jesse B. Hart, president of the Macon National, as he mounted an armored truck loaded with currency. "But this is one bank that you are not going to break."

Merchants of the city, through the chamber of commerce, announced tonight that they would take checks on the banks figuring in today's "runs" for making purchases or paying bills. "There is no cause to be alarmed," said Henry F. Martin, manager of Bradstreet's, "as the banks are fundamentally sound. They are absolutely 100 per cent good and the runs of the day have been unnecessary and unfortunate. I have absolute faith in Macon's financial institutions, and I have no advised inquiries that have come in by wire during the day."

The Central of Georgia railway, the Southern railway and the Georgia railroad have all paid off this week. This morning eight or ten negro employees of one of the railroads entered the Macon National and one of them waved his blue check and shouted: "I'm going to get mine." A messenger boy saw the group of employees and rushing out is said to have told some one that there was a "run" on the Macon National. That started the "run," it is believed.

ANOTHER WARRANT IS ISSUED AGAINST
JOHN D. WALKER

Savannah, Ga., November 30.—(AP)—Advices have been received by Colonel Meritt R. Dixon, sheriff of Chatham county, from Harris county that the authorities there have a warrant charging John P. Walker, now in jail here, with embezzlement of about $6,000. The former Georgia banker is held under a federal indictment charging embezzlement and there is also a warrant against him from Emanuel county.

Walker said he was not surprised at the Harris county warrant, and declared that when he offers his defense his name will be fully cleared. Walker has addressed a letter to Judge Barrett, of the federal court, asking that counsel be appointed for him, and that he be given a hearing in Macon. He hopes to get the $25,000 bond demanded reduced.

NEW FISH HATCHERY

Immediate Erection in Chattooga County Planned.

The state game and fish department will begin work immediately on a new fish hatchery to be erected in Chattooga county, near Summerville. It was announced Friday by Peter S. Twitty, state game and fish commissioner. The new hatchery will specialize in rainbow and brook trout and also will raise bream and bass, it was announced.

Colder Weather Will Usher In Dec. Today

Cloudy skies which Friday produced the heaviest rain so far this month are scheduled to retire today in favor of clear weather accompanied by a decided drop in temperature, according to the forecast of H. H. Scott, acting chief of the United States weather bureau, who states that near-freezing weather is in store for the week-end. Temperatures Friday range from 51 to 62 and figures approximately 10 degrees below this are on the menu for today. Mr. Scott said, and still colder weather is likely Sunday. A total of .52 of an inch of rain was recorded Friday up until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, which represented the heaviest rainfall of the month. The total deficiency for the month through Thursday amounted to more than two inches, weather bureau figures show, while the deficiency to date for November is almost two inches. With the exception of Thursday, the two heaviest rainfalls were on November 19 when 2.3 was recorded and November 7, when 2.4 fell. From November 20 through Thanksgiving day there was no rain at all.

Mercy Is Shown Savannah Pastor In Libel Trial

Savannah, Ga., November 30.—(AP)—Rev. W. F. Larowe was sentenced in city court today to serve three months in jail for criminal libel in connection with circulation of a false oath of the Knights of Columbus, but on recommendation of the jury for extreme mercy, his sentence was postponed.

Charges of criminal libel were brought against the minister and Mrs. Ed C. Alumbaugh by Thomas F. Walsh, Savannah attorney, and member of the Knights of Columbus.

The prosecutor called attention of the court to the jury's recommendation for mercy and to the fact that Rev. Mr. Larowe had spent "considerable time in jail."

Contending that he had not prepared circulars containing the oath, did not know of its contents, and that he was distributing them for Mrs. Alumbaugh, the minister conducted his own defense. Mrs. Alumbaugh is out on bond pending trial.

Florida Resident Kills Himself In Macon Hotel

Macon, Ga., November 30.—(AP)—Thomas Smith, alias J. F. McFarland, about 65 years of age, whose home is believed to be in Tarpon Springs, Fla., shot and killed himself in a downtown hotel here.

McFarland's body was discovered by a negro maid. A coroner's inquest returned a verdict of suicide.

A note on a table in the dead man's room said:

"Dear Landlord: I hate to do this, but I didn't want to do it on the street. I am an old man that has lived a long time. I think you will find in my grip $75.72, which will be enough to get a box to put me away in."

The letter was unsigned. A receipt was found in his suitcase for payment of rental on a postoffice box at Tarpon Springs and was issued in the name of J. F. McFarland. The man had registered at the hotel Thursday night under the name of Thomas Smith.

$105,000 DAMAGES
ASKED FOLLOWING
ACCIDENT SERIES

Four damage suits, seeking a total of $70,000 for injuries alleged to have been received by two persons in street car accidents, were filed Friday in city court of Atlanta against the Georgia Power company, while two suits, asking a total of $35,000 in damages, were filed against the Grinnell Company, Inc., and J. W. Bracewell, of DeKalb county, as the result of an automobile accident.

Janie Kelley, 14, through her father, W. L. Kelley, in a suit against the Power company, asks $25,000 for injuries alleged to have been received in a collision of a "school special" and another street car at Broad and Hunter streets on November 1. The father is seeking $10,000 for loss of his daughter's services and for expenses.

Mrs. F. D. Brosnan, through her husband, is suing the Power company for $25,000 for injuries alleged to have been received when her arm caught in the rear door of a "one-man" street car as she was alighting at West Peachtree and Lombard way. Mrs. Brosnan sets out in her petition that she was dragged 20 to 40 feet when the street car started. Her husband has entered suit for $10,000 for the injuries to his wife.

Edwin L. McGill, 6, is seeking $25,000 from the Grinnell Company, Inc., and J. W. Bracewell for injuries alleged to have been received on October 12, when he was run over by an automobile on Boulevard drive. The petition charges that the machine was owned by the company and operated by Bracewell. The boy's father is seeking $10,000 for loss of his son's services and for expenses.

All six suits were filed by George and John L. Westmoreland and F. Joe Turner, Jr.

ROOSEVELT TO FOLLOW SMITH REGIME POLICY

New York Executive Also To Add Fifth Member to Cabinet.

Warm Springs, Ga., November 30.—(AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, as governor of New York, will not only continue Governor Smith's policy of a cabinet made up of heads of 14 state departments, but will add a fifteenth member in the person of lieutenant governor of state, he said here today.

He declined to state, however, if the other 14 members would be the same persons now serving under Governor Smith, and would not comment on stories regarding appointments which appeared in New York morning papers of Wednesday, this week.

"You may say only that I am carrying out exactly what I stated upon coming to Warm Springs—that I am giving no consideration to appointments while here," was his reply to questions regarding the newspaper stories.

In announcing that the lieutenant governor-elect, Colonel Herbert H. Lehman, would sit in the "cabinet" meetings, the governor-elect said it was "the only thing in the nature of an appointment which will be announced from here."

He was adding Colonel Lehman to his cabinet, he said, "not only because it is good business practice, but because of the benefits to be derived from having Colonel Lehman's ability in all financial and budget matters."

Other important state matters will have the governor-elect's attention over the week-end, however, when he has as guests Colonel Lehman, State Senator Bernard Downing and Assemblyman Maurice Block, who are due Saturday evening. H. William Bray, state democratic chairman, may also arrive over the week-end, it was said.

The chief business to be taken up with the visitors will be the drafting of legislation to carry out the democratic state platform pledges, Mr. Roosevelt said.

"I am doing this now," he said, "for the good reason that I favor the abolishing of a platform as regarded as pledges of a responsible party."

Upstate patronage or realignment of jobs would not be discussed here, according to Mr. Roosevelt. John W. Henry, executive chairman of Erie county, and others, however, who conferred with the governor-elect earlier this week, said efforts would be made to gain greater recognition for upstate Democrats.

Mr. Henry said that "plenty of good democrats could be found" to fill appointments now held by republicans and independents, and that the upstate party leaders were in favor of placing them. Mr. Roosevelt declined to discuss the matter, although it was understood by his followers that he expects to solve the majority of his legislative and patronage problems through conferences with legislative leaders.

The governor-elect today again took up political affairs dropped over the Thanksgiving holiday. Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, New York state superintendent of public works, is still here and will confer with Mr. Roosevelt. In reporting on the year's activities of the Warm Springs foundation at a dinner last night, Mr. Roosevelt said he had asked Colonel Greene to act as "honorary consulting engineer" of a new water supply system to be built here. Specifications call for a 100,000-gallon storage reservoir.

Mr. Roosevelt said Major John S. Cohen, publisher of the Atlanta Journal and the democratic committee man, would be a Sunday caller.

THE GUMPS—GOOD NEWS

THE YOUNG PRETENDERS

By Alice Grant Rosman

While lying helpless in bed after a motor accident, Hugo Donaldson broods over the fact that his father, with whom he'd quarreled just before the smash, has never come into his room to visit him. He decides that he must be dead and that his mother and the servants are keeping it from him. His aunt, Lady Eleanor Wise, a great gossip, comes to call and tells Hugo that his friend, Paul Motzky, is in prison for stealing and that he has married some girl of whom his family disapproved and that, being a boy, he was never engaged to Paul, but because of her lifelong friendship for him she would like to help him.

Paul's wife is living in disguise under the name of Mrs. Hallett and she is forced to earn her own living while Paul is in prison. When Hugo asks for some one to read to him every day, his nurse, Tright, introduces Mrs. Hallett and Hugo takes her on as a reader.

INSTALLMENT XXIV.
A PRESENT TO BUNNY.
The letter, since the girl was a stranger to them, proved a difficult and delicate matter, but they outspassed it at last.
Dear Mrs. Paul (wrote Bunny for Hugo).
Will you make use of this money, if you need it, while Paul is away, as I am not wanting any for the moment? It's all right because Paul is a friend of mine and he has often lent me a bit. He'd tell you to use it. I expect you are worried about Paul, but never mind. Don't you listen to any of them, because he'll soon be coming home again and there's plenty more where that check came from, when he needs it.

If you can see him please tell him I am on his side and so is Bunny. (She's a girl he has known since he was a kid.) I would have been round only I've had a smashup in my car and can't move at present. If there is anything I can do, please write to me, because Paul will expect you to, and I shall be hurt if you don't. This, of course, is in confidence, and nobody is going to know about it, I give you my word.

Yours sincerely,
HUGO DONALDSON.

Bunny, on her meek as a secretary, brought the letter for Hugo to sign in a businesslike manner. She was pretending to be jealous of Henrietta and he was delighted. Nice of her, that was.

He wondered rather shyly what she would say about the little car, and when presently she had put the letter away and was lighting a cigarette with an air of good will, and he took down his pipe and filled it, as a support to his courage.

Leeder brought tea at this moment and his expression of surprise at the sight of Miss Motzky was received by his audience with loud applause.

"I don't think how I didn't see you come up, miss," said Leeder. "I'll bring another cup and saucer."

"We'll have to get that skylight seen to," further remarked Leeder, coming back, and retired much pleased with the laughter provoked by this little bit.

Hugo put down his pipe to watch Bunny pouring out the tea. She had taken off her hat and coat, and her hair, too short to be untidy, was pleasantly disarranged and shone in the sunlight. She would look nice, he thought, just like that, driving Miss Trotsky through the park, the blood-hound sitting beside her.

"Bunny, will you adopt my orphan child for me?" asked Hugo, speaking mysteriously to hide the fact that he was nervous of Bunny for the first time in his life.

"Righto," said Bunny, always ready to play any game that was required of her. "Is this some of your sticky past coming out, or what?"

"My word! And you know, mother doesn't like to have her about the place. She's a red-headed minx."

"Bad lad, aren't you?" Bunny brought him his tea and put it on the table beside him. "Some relation to Willy Nilly, I suppose?" she remarked, looking down at him.

"It's Miss Trotsky," said Hugo, with a pleading smile, and she looked at him.

"Good Lord, you're joking, of course."

"No, I'm not. Please Bunny, take my orphan child."

"I'll buy her from you," said Bunny in a gruff tone.

"You'll do no such dam' thing," shouted Hugo indignantly. "Why, you're worse than Molly. Nobody shall buy my child."

He caught Bunny's arm and drew her down on the bed beside him.

"I've had Greville up and he says Miss Trotsky is as smart as paint and as good as new again," explained Hugo, "and I know you sold your litle car last year. You see mother hates to have her about, and I couldn't bear her to be brought up in a family where she wasn't welcome."

"Funny, aren't you?" said Bunny with a queer little smile, "giving away cars with a pound of tea."

"A cup of tea," corrected Hugo, grinning, "and I've never done it before. I give you my word. You've got a lot of dashing about to do, up and down Fleet street, for me and hunting for Paul's girl, and I'd love to think of you and the old hound on the warpath in Miss Trotsky. You could drive past my window, out there in the park, and give three honks, without your hat. I'd know her voice in a million and I'd get Tright to wheel me out on the balcony to have a look. It would buck me up no end, if you only would. Please, Bunny."

Bunny got up and returned to her place at the tea table.

"R-h-t," she said. She attacked her afternoon tea indignantly and presently remarked in a threatening tone: "I'll give you a car one of these days."

"I'll keep you up to that," exclaimed Hugo, "or you can make it a very posh bath chair."

"Shut up," said Bunny, hotly. Hugo laughed.

"Don't you tell any one, but I mean to be up and about again one of these days," he said. "There was a specialist fellow here yesterday who gave me a hint."

"I should just well think so, indeed. You don't mean to say you've been lying there bedridden, yourself, that you wouldn't?" cried Bunny in a scornful tone. "Hound, what do you think of him?"

"Come on, old hound. You come and talk to your uncle. Invited Hugo, and the hound stroled over obediently and jumped on the bed.

Lady Donaldson, coming in a few moments later, was delighted to find her son enjoying his tea in such innocent and friendly company.

"And if you have any hanky panky tricks from her, just you come to me, miss," Greville would say, "for there's not a car been made ever got the better of me."

The gift of Miss Trotsky to Bunny had been a very happy thought, for it wasn't everybody who could give her a car. Bunny was usually like "Here's a car, Bunny. You can have it." Even Paul couldn't have done it. I ends as they were. And presently, he knew, Bunny would remember what he had said about Miss Trotsky in his letter to young Anstruther, and she would know he must think rather a lot of her. A girl couldn't feel so dreadfully jilted in a world where there were other chaps wanting to give her cars, thought Hugo, pleased at his own cunning.

Three loud honks from the park beyond his window; Hugo knew the orphan's voice in a moment and shouted to Tright:

"Out on the balcony, quick. Tright, I've got to see some one," cried Hugo. There she was—Miss Trotsky, the slim red body gleaming in the sun, and there was Bunny, hatless and waving gayly, the old hound up beside her. Very smart they looked, too. Bunny was playing a tune on Miss Trotsky's horn and she conducted it solemnly from the balcony, until Tright came out with a determined air.

Bunny, taking the hint, put on her hat and pressed the self-starter. The little car moved off, very gay in its bright new war paint, and a fitting setting, it seemed to Hugo, for the gallant figure at the wheel.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Story of Our War With Spain.

The Attack on San Juan Hill (Concluded).

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

AT LAST CAME THE WELCOME COMMAND TO CHARGE, AND WITH RINGING CHEERS REGULARS AND VOLUNTEERS BEGAN THEIR PERILOUS ADVANCE. IT WAS 600 YARDS TO THE TOP, EXPOSED BULLETS OF THE SPANISH DROVE OVER THEIR HEADS. OUR MEN SUFFERED WITH THE HEAT AND WERE IMPATIENT TO ADVANCE.

THE AMERICANS DAMPED UP THAT BULLET-SWEPT SLOPE, FIRING AS THEY WENT AND CHEERING ONE ANOTHER ON. IT WAS A SEVERE TEST FOR THE VOLUNTEERS, MANY OF THEM WERE BOYS AND NEARLY ALL OF THEM NEW RECRUITS. YET A FEW MONTHS BEFORE HAD BEEN PEACEFULLY ENGAGED IN CIVILIAN OCCUPATIONS.

BY 1:30 P. M. THE AMERICANS HAD FOUGHT THEIR WAY TO THE CREST OF THE HILL. THE SPANISH, AFTER A BRIEF RESISTANCE, WERE DRIVEN FROM THEIR ENTRENCHMENTS, AND RETREATED FROM THE HILL TO AN INNER LINE OF DEFENSE.

ELLIS CARSWELL DIES AT MACON HOSPITAL

Interment Will Take Place at Providence Church
Sunday Morning.

After a few days illness at Macon hospital, Macon, Ellis Carswell, proprietor of Carswell Florist and well known Atlanta citizen died Friday at 12 o'clock.

Interment will take place at Providence church in Wilkinson county at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

For the last several years Mr. Carswell has been prominently identified with the mercantile business of Atlanta, taking an active part in civic affairs and having a wide circle of friends, not only in Atlanta, but throughout the state.

His death Friday came as a distinct shock to his many friends who knew of his illness, but who did not suspect that his condition was critical.

Mr. Carswell was a member of the Macon Temple Shrine, Macon, Georgia, and the Atlanta post of the American Legion and of the 40 and 8. In the latter organization he had held the position of commander.

To Whom It May Concern: I hereby certify that the above is a true and correct copy of the original as the same appears in the records of the Macon Temple Shrine, Macon, Georgia.

several important offices and was one of its most active members. He was a first cousin of George H. Carswell, secretary of state; a veteran of the world war, having attended the officers' training camp at Leon Springs, Texas, obtaining the commission of second lieutenant.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Myrtle B. Carswell, two sisters, Mrs. W. M. Bailey of Atlanta; Mrs. D. T. Smith of Irvington; and a brother, S. L. Carswell, also of Irvington.

Quizzed On Counting Method, Judges Election Results

The committee closely examined election judges and county commissioners as to the method of counting the ballots in the election for the office of sheriff-elect.

Sheriff-elect Alphonso Newton swore that he obtained the precinct 24 copy from Antonio Garcia, brother of Alex. Garcia, who gave him the copy.

Newton said Garcia gave him some papers but that he had never seen the copy in question. Newton said he thought Antonio Garcia was an election judge and asked for the returns copy so McCloskey could "compare" the results with others.

THREAT OF CONTEMPT SPEEDS TEXAS PROBE

Copies of Official Ballots
Produced as Chairman
Indicates Move.

San Antonio, Texas, November 30.—(AP)—Threats of contempt proceedings in congress by Chairman Fred Lehbach, of the house investigations committee, investigating the disputed result of the fourteenth Texas district congressional race, had a salutary effect in the hearing which closed today.

One of the three precinct election judges, claiming to have been duped by the copies of the official ballots returned last today with his copy, another judge said he had mistakenly put his copy in the ballot box but declared that the count was different from the official count, the third judge stated that a democratic worker got his copy of the returns and altered the figures thereon.

Lehbach, had told the judges to produce the copies or "hear from Washington," mentioning the seriousness of contempt.

Anton Wocher, the judge who produced his "lost returns" returned today with his copy, explaining he found it under his brother's trunk. This amused the crowd.

Wife of Griffin Minister Succumbs Late Friday.

Griffin, Ga., November 30.—(Special)—Mrs. Hoags S. Smith, beloved wife of the pastor of the First Methodist church here, died at her home here this afternoon. Mrs. Smith had been ill since early summer and lately friends and loved ones had known it was only a question of time.

Mrs. Smith, who was born in Montezuma on December 11, 1883, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith and was a member of the First Methodist church.

On June 22, 1904, she was married to Mr. Smith, who was then superintendent of schools at Lumber City. Later he entered the ministry and he and Mrs. Smith had lived at White Plains, La. Fayetteville, Mississippi, McDonough, Union Point, Atlanta and Elberton.

Two years ago the Rev. and Mrs. Smith moved to Griffin, where he became pastor of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Smith was loved by all who knew her and was a help and an inspiration to her husband in his work.

She is survived by her husband, four children, Miss Lucile Smith, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Horace S. Smith, Jr., and Mrs. J. B. Lewis, and a son, Mr. J. B. Lewis, Jr.
